PosterGarden partners with Pelican to offer the best cases available

Durable, watertight, and backed by a lifetime warranty, Pelican cases protect portable displays during shipping

Portland, Ore. (Dec. 9, 2009) — Normal wear and tear on a portable display is one thing. But unpacking your display at a trade show only to find it's been damaged in shipping? Inexcusable. (Not to mention costly, inconvenient, and downright frustrating.)

That's why PosterGarden has partnered with Pelican, the leading shipping case manufacturer in the business. Starting with its Winter 2010 catalog, PosterGarden has begun offering an array of Pelican hard cases that are solid, watertight, and backed by a lifetime warranty

"Shipping damage is one of the biggest problems our customers run into," says Mike Rigby, PosterGarden's Director of Product Development. "With these cases from Pelican, that will become a thing of the past."

For more than 30 years, Pelican has built a reputation for manufacturing the toughest cases in the world. The cases, favored by the military, photographers, medical professionals and others, have been thrown out of helicopters in Iraq, floated through frigid fjords in Norway, and rolled over by SUVs in Tanzania. Despite a few external scratches, the contents always arrive unscathed. And that's just what portable display users want: to get their displays to a show intact, functional, and ready for the floor.

PosterGarden is initially carrying Pelican's popular Protector Cases in four different sizes. Ideal for anyone who ships displays to multiple shows, the cases can accommodate a number of different PosterGarden portable displays and accessories, including banner stands, fabric popups, graphics, and lights.

Each watertight case features: protected wheels with ball bearings and nylon hubs; rugged double handles; stainless steel hardware and lock protectors; an optional TSA-accepted lock; and more. Future options will include foam inserts for specific PosterGarden displays.

"It's pretty simple," says Rigby. "Pelican makes the best cases out there. That's why we went with them. We're glad we did, and I know our customers will be too."
