PosterGarden's newest green display unites simplicity and innovation

Unique Protia Panel Display features an easy setup and full-color graphics on recyclable Duraplast panels

Portland, Ore. (Sept. 16, 2009) — It's simple. It's innovative. And it's sustainable.

Meet the Protia Panel Display, only from PosterGarden.

Available in an array of wall and tower styles, the brand new Protia Panel Display unites all three characteristics — simplicity, innovation, and sustainability — in an attractive and practical portable display.

The Protia's simple hub and panel design make this unique display easy to set up, and the various custom wall and tower configurations are ideal for full-color graphics, merchandise, and more.

"This portable display is one of the most innovative, best-looking, easiest to use and most creative to hit the market in a long, long time," says Michael Rigby, PosterGarden's director of product development. "It's just so easy to use and set up, and the end result, no matter what design you go with, really makes for a stunning display."

In addition to their ease of use and head-turning appearance, Protia displays come with carrying cases and can be outfitted with optional — and sustainable — LED Lights. Available configurations include six different wall options and four towers, each with its own unique style and function. Some incorporate shelves that are perfect for displaying merchandise or company literature, others catch the eye with multi-dimensional design accents.

The Protia also shines in the sustainability realm thanks to its custom, full-color graphics, which are printed on Duraplast®. Lightweight yet durable, Duraplast® foam board is not only made from at least 15% recycled content, but it's also 100% biodegradable and 100% recyclable as well.

"There's not much else you could ask for in a portable display," says Rigby. "Innovation. Simplicity. Creativity. Sustainability. The Protia's got all that and more."
