PosterGarden offers huge summer savings on unique Event Tents

Company's full-color, full-coverage tents will be available for $400 off between now and August 31, 2009

Portland, Ore. (May 11, 2009) — To help keep the summer bright and beautiful, PosterGarden is offering a $400 savings on its full-color, full-coverage Event Tents now through August 31, 2009.

The 10x10 tents, normally $2,399, will be just $1,999.

“Our Event Tents really are the perfect choice for any summertime occasion, from company picnics to corporate-sponsored sporting events and more,” says Michael Rigby, PosterGarden’s Director of Product Development. “And unlike traditional one- or two-color screen printing, our dye sublimation process allows customers to do full-color imaging with pretty much whatever they want.”

In the past, tents were printed in just one or two colors. Logos or graphics were then added via a traditional screen printing method. To keep costs down, the same graphic would usually be printed on all four sides of the tent.

PosterGarden’s dye sublimation process, however, gives customers complete flexibility to print tents in any color or pattern they choose and with as many graphics and patterns as they want – at no additional charge. It’s a value not often found in today’s market.

In addition, PosterGarden’s Event Tents feature sturdy, one-piece steel frames, adjustable legs, and convenient carrying bags. Optional weight bags are also available, and the tents’ calendared, water-repellant fabric is guaranteed to resist fading for a full year.

“This is a great season for a great Event Tent,” Rigby says. “Add in this $400 savings, and you really can’t do much better.”
